Police Round Up N.O. Pranksters

State police today announced that eight juveniles and three youths between the ages of 18 and 21 had been found to have had part in Halloween pranks in New Oxford that led to an investigation on behalf of the borough by the state officers.

Complaints of a number of individuals in New Oxford led Frank Higinbotham, president of the borough council there, to request the investigation.

Among the "pranks" about which New Oxford residents complained was the removal of 25 feet of fence from one property, the removal of 84 palings from another fence and the removal of a wagon loaded with seed wheat and phosphate from a shed. In moving the wagon from the shed to the square, where it was abandoned, the group twisted the vehicle out of shape, police said. Charges will be laid against the youths, police added.

For A Bigger And Better

GETTYSBURG

This is the third in a series of nine articles by nine representative citizens of Gettysburg on what, in their estimation, are the three most important community projects for Gettysburg.

DR. L. C. KEFAUVER Superintendent of Schools

I shall try to comply with your request and set forth, briefly, what I believe to be three desirable community projects.

Selected Industries

One of the most pressing needs of the community is some new type of industries requiring skilled and semi-skilled workers. This is important in order to make it possible for the enterprising young men of the community to find employment here instead of seeking such employment elsewhere. No community is any greater than the people who make up that community, and if one community does not provide a place for the ambitious and energetic young men, naturally, they move on to the community which does provide such opportunities.

Municipal Building

A second very desirable undertaking for the community is the erection of a municipal building. This should include a suitable auditorium for local and convention needs. It could very well include offices for the Burgess, police and borough government in general. Here should be those much needed facilities for a recreation center and all that implies.

Planning Authority

A third thing of importance is a planning body composed of a small group of people whose interest in the community is unquestioned and whose integrity is above reproach. These three community projects—selected industries, a municipal building and community planning are not at all impossible to attain if a spirit of co-operation dominates all the agencies of the community. Personal interests must be subjected to the interest of the community, for after all what benefits the community benefits all the people directly or indirectly.

Local Fans Will Attend Grid Game

Several Gettysburg and Adams county residents will attend the Gettysburg college-New York university football game at New York city Saturday.

Ray M. Hoffman, Howard street, H. Earl Pitzer, Aspers and Warren T. Dunn, Biglerville, left this morning by automobile. Among those leaving by motor tonight for the game are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Bream, West Broadway; Mr. and Mrs. Burton Foth, Center Square and Attorney and Mrs. Richard A. Brown, Fairfield road.

Members of the Blue and Gray band are being asked to appear in costume next Wednesday night for the Halloween parade. The Blue and Gray will be one of three bands who have been invited to provide music for the celebrants. Blue and Gray members are asked to report at the engine house at 6:45 o'clock the evening of the parade.

Howard Gaines was guest director of the band at its weekly rehearsal session Thursday evening.

The band officers acknowledged donations from Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster, Paul M. Reed and Huber B. Miller.

RETURNS FROM TOKYO

Sgt. G. Robert Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hartman, Gettysburg R. D., has returned from Tokyo, Japan. He spent 13 months overseas which included duty with general headquarters in Manila. His discharge will be sent to him from Ft. Meade, Md. Sgt. Hartman, who graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1943, served nearly two years in the armed forces.

The general public is invited to attend the bicycle contests to be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Springs Avenue and at Arentsville. Gettysburg's troops will hold their bike contest in the section between

Balky Civilians

Baffle Army Brass

Rome, Oct. 25 (AP)—Embarrassed U. S. Army officers hemmed, hawed and tut-tutted today over a prickly problem posed by the refusal of 62 American civilian employees to move from the Excelsior hotel in uptown Rome by midnight tonight, as ordered.

The civilians, 44 of whom have banded together in an impromptu resistance organization headed by Sheldon Magwood of New York city, said only force would move them.

"I'm afraid it's my baby," said Col. Charles L. Dasher, commander of the Rome area, adding that he did not know what action he would take, if any, when the midnight deadline rolls around.

It was learned that the army wants the Excelsior quarters for the families of high-ranking officers expected soon in Rome.

TROUBLES DOUBLE

Greensburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—Troubles multiplied for John Andrew Udvari, 32-year-old Somerset county man charged with bigamy, when the FBI at Pittsburgh yesterday charged him with illegally wearing an army officer's uniform.

VIOLETS LEAVE OR TILT WITH VIOLETS IN N.Y.

aches "Hen" Bream and Clyde took a squad of 32 Gettysburg players to New York city to for their game with New York University on Ohio field Saturday noon at 2 o'clock.

The squad left by bus this morning o'clock and will go directly to York city. The return trip is made Sunday.

Coach Bream has announced that Sachs, former Gettysburg high has recovered from an injury which prevented him taking part in the Lafayette and Delaware es and may see action against Violets.

The Bullet starting lineup will probably be Cauffman and Krupa; Thompson and Joy, tackles; and Morris, guards; Rockhill, center; Constable, Rambo, Ider and Cervino, backs.

ALTERS N.Y.U LINEUP

Each Jack Wefnheimer has announced two backfield changes for York University. Tom Kavazan and Joe Novotny will take over halfback positions, the former facing the injured Finn and the latter taking over in place of Miller.

Other starters for the Violets will as follows: DePaso or Autieri, ends; Majlinder and Mita, tackles; Merola and Scolari, guards; Capt. Verolini, center; Zozoli, quarterback, and Yarco, fullback.

The game will mark the first time the Bullets and Violets have met on the gridiron. N.Y.U. has from Brooklyn college and the University of Rochester while losing Rutgers. The Bream-men have had wins over Lehigh and LaSalle and suffered reverses at the hands of Western Maryland and aware.

EAVY CALIBER PENN CHANGES

PENN CHANGES

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—Penn coach George Munger reshuffled his starting lineup today and threw in some heavy caliber stuff—including pairs of 200-pound ends, a 175-pound blocking back and a 210-pound fullback—the theory being that ruggedness will count more than finesse in the initial moments of tomorrow's game with Navy.

Moving into starting end position will be Art Littleton and Jerry McCarthy whose 400 pounds will bring Red and Blue line up to an average of 219 3/7, just 25 pounds per man heavier than Navy's wall. Munger said Eddie Allen, who started against Lafayette and Dartmouth, has recovered from a leg injury but would be held in reserve, in 210-pound Bill Luongo starting stead in fullback. Luongo also put in last week and gained 60 yards against Virginia.

Carmen Falcone, who started all but of last year's games will return to his position as blocking back after having recovered from a pulled tendon which he sustained during pre-season practice.

Replacing 172-pound Eddie Lawless, Falcone teams with Luongo, 190-pound Bob Evans and 190-pound Jippy Minisi in a Penn backfield at will average 188 3/4 pounds against a Navy norm of 180. Littleton and McCarthy, at end positions, will replace Frank Jenkins and Bob Bonagough, both of whom will be ready for action, Munger said, despite bumps and bruises left over from earlier contests.

VILLANOVA TO GIVE BOSTON COLLEGE TEST

Boston, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Villanova Indians, who have come back strong since being beaten by Army and Navy, tonight will give Boston College its first test since the Eagles quivered Michigan state two weeks ago.

The Eagles, favored by some observers, will be without three of their men. Their best end, Chet Lipsey, has a broken hand. Center Tuck Womley suffered a leg injury this week in practice and Bernie Lanoue isn't recovered completely from a broken wrist bone.

In their series which began in 1922, the college has won five games and was a tie so tonight's affair will be a rubber contest.

Boston College Coach Denny Myers is wary of at least two of the Villanova backs, Joe Rogers and Romeo Capriotti. "They burn the ball," said Myers.

Many Rumors On Dressen's Future

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Charley (Chuck) Dressen has quit as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers—and that's the only fact amid a plethora of rumors revolving around the great New York Yankee manager mystery.

Whether Dressen was to become either coach or manager of the Yanks remained in the realm of "reliable reports" or "informed sources" that have been speculating on the naming of a new pilot since Bill Dickey stepped down toward the end of the season.

Dressen, whom Yankee President Larry MacPhail hired for Brooklyn as Manager Leo Durocher's right-hand man in 1939, announced yesterday that he was resigning. He bid goodbye to Dodger President Branch Rickey after a conference more than an hour in the latter's office.

All Charley would say was that he had a "good job" waiting for him.

Three under par 69 on the opening eighteen. Trailing the calm ex-navy serviceman by one stroke was Jim Ferrier, of Chicago, while defending champion Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., was bracketed with four others at 71.

IRISH PICKED TO BEAT IOWA AND SNAP JINX

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 25 (AP) — Dame customarily has no more luck visiting Iowa City on a football mission than this forecaster has with his weekly predictions. This time, however, the Irish should chalk up their first triumph in the Hawkeye state—and here's hoping they have strength to knock off a double-barreled jinx.

Three times in the past the Irish have invaded Iowa City with unbeaten teams, as they will again this week-end. And three times an underdog Iowa eleven has triumphed.

The starting teams probably will be close to even but Iowa hasn't the reserve power to outlast the Irish.

Other selections:

Army over Duke: Duke is the team Coach Earl Blaik of Army feared above all others as the season started. However, all of Army's regulars, including Arnold Tucker, are healed.

Southern California over Stanford: The Trojans apparently came to a week ago in their 28 to 0 win over Washington but don't be surprised if only three-points separate the two Saturday with Southern California out in front.

Tennessee over Wake Forest: The Vols should have little difficulty.

Texas over Rice: One of the country's great teams meets a good club, Bobby Layne and his cohorts to get back in their terrific stride.

Harvard over Holy Cross: This is the time that a stubborn defense will prove the better offense.

Penn Favored

Penn over Navy: Tony Minisi spurred the Middies to a close win over the Quakers a year ago but this time he is wearing a Penn uniform—and will be on the winning side again.

Oklahoma A. & M. over Texas Christian: Bob Fenimore is back in tip-top shape and the Cowboys should start roaming again.

Ohio State over Minnesota: It has been a long time since a Minnesota team has gone into a Big Nine fray pointing with pride, to its aerial attack. It won't be enough. Ohio State.

California over Washington: For the second straight Saturday the Huskies will see more of the state of California than they desire.

Michigan over Illinois: The Illini haven't beaten Michigan since they upset Tom Harmon and company in 1939. They'll have to wait another year, at least.

Skipping over the rest in a hurry: Friday, San Jose State over Brigham Young, Miami over Chattanooga, Ohio State over Drake, Boston College over Villanova, Geneva over Carnegie Tech.

Bullets To Lose

Saturday: East — Delaware over Drexel, New York over Gettysburg, Connecticut over Lehigh, Penn State over Colgate, Wesleyan over Amherst, Brown over Boston university, Yale over Coast Guard, Syracuse over West Virginia, Rutgers over George Washington, Columbia over Dartmouth, Rochester over Hamilton, Bucknell over Lafayette, Muhlenberg over Franklin & Marshall, Bates over Maine, New Hampshire over Vermont.

Midwest—Indiana over Pacifia, Northwestern over College of Pacific, Purdue over Pittsburgh, Michigan State over Cincinnati, Marquette over Arizona, Oklahoma over Iowa State, Missouri over Southern Methodist.

South—Alabama over Kentucky, North Carolina over Florida, Arkansas over Mississippi, Georgia over Lehigh, Penn State over Tulane, North Carolina State over VPI, Louisiana State over Vanderbilt, Georgia over Furman, Washington & Lee over Richmond, William & Mary over VMI.

Southwest—Texas A. & M. over Baylor, Texas Tech over Denver, Tulsa over Kansas.

Far West: Utah over Wyoming, Colorado over New Mexico, Colorado A. & M. over Colorado college, Utah State over Montana, Oregon State over Washington State, Oregon over Idaho, UCLA over Santa Clara.

FACES CONFISCATION ON MARIJUANA COUNT

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—Paul Tassone, 65, of Republic, Fayette county, today faced confiscation of all his property as a result of his arrest on charges of selling 35 pounds of marijuanna to two U.S. narcotics agents posing as illicit buyers.

The agents said the federal tax on marijuanna is $100 an ounce making Tassone liable to the government in the sum of $56,000. They said confiscation papers already have been drawn.

About six years ago, a 6.25-acre farm in Fayette county was seized by the government after the owner was found raising marijuanna.

Tassone and his son, Joseph, 21, said to be an army air force veteran, were arrested Tuesday on a lonely road in Luzerne township. Joseph was driving a car for his father, William T. Duffy of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics said the two men would go before a U.S. Commissioner here on charges of selling marijuanna.

The loans are designed to spur the most conspicuously lagging phase of the Veterans' Housing program—a pre-fab campaign which apparently will provide only 40,000 homes this year instead of the 250,000 set as the original 1946 goal.

The NHA official said that if the 11 concerns seeking Federal aid come through, along with other prefabricated producers, the chances are good for meeting the 1947 goal of 600,000 factory-built dwellings. This is two-fifths of the entire 1947 housing target of 1,500,000 homes started.

Wyatt's aides are confident that RFC will approve the bulk of the requests. The loan agency itself was non-committal, but a spokesman said action is possible within a matter of days if sufficient data accompanied the loan requests.

STATE IN SUGAR 'DEFICIT' AREA

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Agriculture department has designated all or parts of 13 states including Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia as sugar "deficit areas" in which the department will subsidize shipment of western-produced beet sugar.

Excess costs of transporting sugar into the "deficit areas" will be met by the department. The designated area includes, New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Georgia, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and portions of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Department officials said that since most of the domestic beet sugar is retained for consumption in the west and because rail transportation is already working near capacity, it did not expect the latest action to make sugar available in the designated deficit areas to make up current shortages, but only to meet some of the essential needs.

The department said the maritime strike has tied up about 138,000 tons of raw sugar aboard vessels in eastern harbors while an additional 13,000 tons of refined sugar is aboard other vessels tied up in Atlantic coast ports.

AUTUMNAL GLORY

All the processes of Nature tend toward maturity. There is always a ripening time. Coal, gold, precious stones, and endless varieties of metals lie deep in the earth, awaiting the time when the curtain of secrecy is drawn, man gaining the benefit of his research and discovery.

And what a marvelous planning on the part of the Creator, in the Seasons that he set forth! From the beautiful budding of the Springtime to the full maturities of Autumn, and the convocation of matchless colorings that blanket all Nature in celebration garb. Beauty, borrowed from the rainbow — brilliant reds, softened browns, sun-kissed golds, tinted greens, royal purples, and intimate blues.

And how this seasonal beauty runs about, touching the fields, forests, gardens, and even the sky. A rejoicing time it is — with all hands called to give voice and testament. The fowls of the air, gathering in groups, holding their last conventions, and leaving their vanishing songs to melt away in remembering minds. And the silence of it all — the tired leaves, falling gently to the earth, nestling together, or being driven by winds to spread their substance, decaying their Summer foliage into nourishment for the leaves of another year.

How overspreading is the spirit of Autumn! How willingly it dies — to live again. Like maturing age, growing mellow with ripeness, hopeful and full of faith. Life's awakening to the truth of immortality. Serenity and peace. And how its lingering odor stays in the nostrils, seeping into the heart. Harvests at the full. Fields and glens inviting the laborers to their feast. Reaping time. Home from the hunt. Weariness at rest — awaiting the call of Winter's winds and snow.

The song of Autumn is a subdued one. Like a symphony. A comforting one — soothed to the spirit, inspiring it to meditation and to prayers of thanksgiving for such abundance and blessings. How appropriate for this, our thanksgiving time of all the year. And how these blessings of ours far outweigh our losses, regrets, and disappointments.

We can say, with Browning that "All's right with the world" and God still rules. The wrong is in ourselves. But the beauty and glory of Autumn can do so much to make it right!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Traveler."

MAN'S MEASURE

How far is the goal away?

Too far for the many.

They will prefer to stay,

Taking life's penny.

Some will not even start,

Fearing resistance.

Only the stout of heart

Dare the long distance.

Only the few keep on,

Failures defying,

Till the last hope is gone,

Constantly trying.

This is man's measure, then;

Learn it and teach it:

No goal too far for men

Eager to reach it.

USSR ISOLATES HERSELF FROM MANY NATIONS

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

One of the claims made behalf of the Labor party in its 1945 campaign for control of the British government was that it would be able to get along better with Russia than could Winston Churchill's Conservatives.

Now, a year and a half later, we find the Labor Prime Minister speaking bitterly of Russia's isolationism and propaganda warfare against every system except his own.

Attlee, as the London dispatches point out, has taken a view very similar to that of Churchill in his famous speech at Fulton, Missouri.

This cannot properly be termed a turn of events, since there never was any official indication that the Laborites would depart from traditional British foreign policy. Neither Socialism nor Communism has yet equalled the force of nationalism.

But it does serve to emphasize how far Russia has gone within a comparatively short period to antagonize non-Communist elements abroad with whom she might have been able to establish at least a modicum of cooperation.

Positions Much Alike

This is also evident in the vociferous campaign now being waged for elimination or modification of the veto right in the U.N. Security Council, where Russian usage has weakened the support originally given the veto idea by Britain and, particularly, the United States. The latter, a reservoir of all the things which the others covet, containing the industrial power which has decided two World Wars and the most likely initial target for the next, has the best reasons of all for desiring to retain the veto for self-protection.

United States interests are world-wide. She does not wish to have outsiders vote her, willy-nilly, into positions at violent variance with these interests, no matter how whole-hearted her support of the U.N.

To that extent, the U. S. position on the veto is much like that of Russia.

But to have one country use the veto to help establish half a world of its own, vis-a-vis the other half, was never envisioned. It is such imtemperance which has produced the strange picture of the United States withholding economic aid from Czechoslovakia, a country which we godfathers; of Bevin and Churchill lining up together against the "change" for which Mr. Attlee said we must hope.

The state Grange, in its resolution and Conservative leaders equally exasperated over Russia.

It indicates that the veto will eventually be eliminated or modified, perhaps depriving the great powers of a really needed device.

Careful observers discount the possibility that, in this event, Russia would pull out of the U.N. That would cause the fear already engendered by her foreign policy to become dynamically anti-Russian, something she cannot want.

Mr. Molotov arrived for the Assembly meeting with word that Russia was determined to work for the success of the U.N. He did not say whether Russia had realized that it could not be merely for the success of one of the many entities of which the U.N. is composed. That would have meant a part of the "change" for which Mr. Attlee said we must hope.

Changed Faith In Vain Move For Child

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (P)—A grieving foster mother, faced with the loss of the two-year-old girl she has nurtured for 17 months, has appealed to the county orphans court today to allow her to keep the child.

The Children's Service Bureau had notified the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davis M. Thomas, that because the bureau considered Mrs. Thomas "too nervous and high strung," the child would be placed for adoption elsewhere.

Mrs. Thomas, told the child's mother wanted the girl brought up as a Catholic, became a Catholic herself but said her request to little Kathleen still was refused.

WOULD OUTLAW DAYLIGHT TIME

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 25 (P)—The Pennsylvania state Grange was on record today as opposing the commercialization of radio and asking that a "proper amount of time on the radio" be set aside for "agricultural and other public service programs."

In other resolutions passed by the Grange at the closing session of its 74th annual three-day convention last night, the organization:

Proposed to outlaw Daylight Saving Time which it said causes "confusion and vexation" to millions of people.

Opposed federal appropriations for primary education on the ground "that such a departure would strike a blow at the independence and sovereignty of the states and weaken the fundamental principles underlying our dual system of government."

The state Grange, in its resolution and Conservative leaders equally exasperated over Russia.

It indicates that the veto will eventually be eliminated or modified, perhaps depriving the great powers of a really needed device.

BRIEF FLURRY OVER HINT ON ARMY CHANGE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—There was a little confusion for a while yesterday.

Had General Dwight D. Eisenhower meant to tell a news conference that General Omar N. Bradley would succeed him as Army Chief-of-Staff?

If he had, then—. When was General Eisenhower getting out? And why?

But this seems to have been straightened out. General Eisenhower said he wasn't making predictions.

Strictly Rumors

He said, though, that he thought General Bradley was one of the greatest soldiers the army ever produced.

There have been rumors here—strictly rumors which may not become facts—that:

1. General Eisenhower would remain as Army Chief-of-Staff and be named Ambassador to Great Britain by President Truman.

2. That General Bradley, now head of the Veterans Administration, would succeed Eisenhower as Chief-of-Staff.

Congress created the Chief-of-Staff post in 1933 to smooth out the work of the army and the War Department.

Chief-of-Staff means Chief of the Army Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, the President.

Senate Must Approve

So that military men will be subordinate to civilians in this country, the Chief-of-Staff operates under the civilian Secretary of War.

When the Chief-of-Staff job is going to be open, the War Department recommends to the President a candidate or candidates for the job.

The President can suit himself about this: Follow the recommendation or pick his own Chief-of-Staff. But the Senate must approve.

General George C. Marshall—whom Eisenhower succeeded—was Chief-of-Staff longer than anyone since Congress made the job in 1933.

He held it a little longer than six years, from September 1, 1939, until Eisenhower took over in November, 1945.

EGG WRECK

Morrison, Ill., (AP)—A North Western railroad streamliner mixed quite an omelet when it struck Edward Kempner's truck.

The impact broke about 200 cases containing more than 60,000 eggs and smeared them over the front of the train and the adjoining highway. Eggs were ankle-deep on the road until highway workers shoveled them into a ditch and sprinkled the road with crushed limestone.

No one was injured.

Chapter 5

Gradually toward the end of the meal a doubt crossed his mind as to whether they were as interested in what he said as in how he said it. He had an uncomfortable feeling they had deliberately made him talk, that their eyes absorbed his every expression and mannerism. He found himself speaking more slowly to give himself a chance to see if there was anything about either of them he had overlooked, anything that struck a responsive chord. But he was at a loss, his ease of conversation gradually slackened. In the recurring silences he tried to remember any untoward events in the past, in London and Paris that he could link with their efforts. But yesterday seemed to have drifted beyond his mind's perspective abandoning him with these two scrutinizing dinner companions — and an empty place at his right hand.

But that empty place held unlimited possibilities — it belonged to the lady of the house, and to her belonged that curving staircase, the quiet intrinsic beauty of all he saw in this house. Conrad had not been pleased that her place had been set, as if he wished to shield her from what was happening.

When coffee was served in the drawing room he learned the servant's name was Joseph. But Joseph himself spoke no word. His frail old hand trembled when he handed Niel his coffee. The coffee was strong and of such a peculiar flavor he wondered if his had been drugged so he drank only a little amused by his feeble self protection. Then wanting to evade their watching eyes behind a cloud of smoke he fumbled in his pocket for his pipe. It was empty, but as he was about to slip it back in his pocket Conrad stopped him.

"I'll get some tobacco." It was almost as if he was glad of an excuse to get out of the room. With his going the atmosphere turned rife with hostility.

"Perhaps you would prefer cigarettes?"

Niel shook his head. "I never smoke them."

"Nor do I."

"Do you play cards, captain?"

"Seldom. I'd rather read in my spare time."

"Then tomorrow I'll show you our library."

"Thank you."

"I'm sorry my wife felt too ill to come down. She would have made this evening more pleasant for you." His voice held genuine regret. Niel scarcely knew what formality he spoke, his mind was on the woman herself. Perhaps she had feigned illness, perhaps he might be able to induce her to smuggle a note to Berlin. Suddenly he wanted to laugh at his frail desperate hope. The man's voice broke in on his thinking.

"Fortunately, Mr. Dana, you are not married."

"Fortunately?" He even smiled at the other's gravity.

"Are you by any chance engaged?" As Niel shook his head he continued, trembling as he withdrew his pipe. "You have known her many years?"

"All my life," answered Niel quietly and the very thought of it conjured up a picture of her: tall vibrant energy and laughing voice and on himself sitting in a darkened stall listening to the music flowing from under her little fingers. The man's voice took on a judicial tone.

"Just before the war you used your influence to persuade the Nazi Government to release her husband and give him permission to leave the country."

"And I failed, as the world knows." "Surely you did not expect success?"

Niel recalled his expectations of success.

"I didn't know the Nazis then."

The man leaned forward. "And now you know them, particularly men of influence who were willing to attempt negotiations on your behalf . . . we are interested in those names." They watched his reaction, Conrad pale as death facing his son.

"You too seem anxious to leave, Conrad." Bitterness held sway.

"I am."

The man turned away with a clipped formal goodnight but when they reached the door he called out:

"It may influence your decision, Mr. Dana, to know that Madame Runstedt lives nearby." A wave of dizziness engulfed Niel but he went to the bottom of the staircase before he glanced back. The man leaned against the mantel, his head buried in his arms. Then he felt Conrad's hand on his shoulder.

"Conrad, are you all right?"

"Yes . . . does Freya live nearby?"

"Yes. Come upstairs."

In silence they went up, through the lounge and down the dimly lighted hall. The guard was gone.

"Don't bother to bring breakfast," said Niel. "I'd rather sleep late."

"Do you want something to help you sleep?"

"No. I've some thinking to do."

names of the men who negotiated for you, the names that never reached the newspapers. What do you say?"

"I say you need higher cards on your hand before you call me."

The man rose and strode to the fireplace to poke viciously at the logs; his hand gripping the poker was white across the knuckles. He's clever, thought Niel, to use Freya and Ernest, but he's trying to bluff me. Those names can't possibly be of much importance. There's something else behind it that he doesn't want me to see.

"If it's not asking too much," he said with a brightness that grated even on his ears, "could I be thrown back into my dungeon?"

Conrad was on his feet immediately and the other turned to look at them both. Whatever was passing from his eyes was beyond Niel but he saw a flush well up in Conrad's cheeks.

"You too seem anxious to leave, Conrad." Bitterness held sway.

You Get All The Heating Comfort You Pay For

Our FUEL oil deliveries are fully error proofed, with Verified-Meter Printed Delivery Receipts. We have always made this possible by having our delivery trucks equipped with BRODIE AUTOMATIC RECORDING METERS, which assure accurate measurements and regulate delivery of exact gallonage you order. This feature gives positive protection to all of our customers.

The driver sets the meter for the quantity of fuel oil you desire, and the meter does the rest. It automatically shuts off when the exact number of gallons goes through the meter. It then prints the total gallonage on your receipt, which is either given to you or left under your door if you are away.

It has always been our policy to give our customers "THE BEST" in finest grades of TEXACO Fuel Oil and Petroleum Products and "THE BEST" of equipment to serve you.

Our representative will be pleased to call at your residence or office and explain our complete service. Feel free to call us at any time.

"Better just sleep . . . goodnight." Niel's gesture stopped him.

"Is Freya well?" His voice sounded unnaturally hoarse, he felt sweat on his upper lip. Conrad nodded, pity in his eyes—whether for him or Freya he could not tell.

"She is still her old self. Please, no more questions."

Suddenly Niel's self imposed reserve deserted him, he offered his hand. Instantly he felt a strong responsive clasp, then their hands fell apart and Conrad quickly closed the door.

Physically and mentally weary Niel slouched in the deep chair near the fireplace. The insecurity of everything he had up till now taken for granted swooped down on him, scurrying his thoughts here and there, now forward, now backward from the probable to the impossible. But it was useless. Half-dazed he went to the bed dragging off his tunic. Once more the guilt offended his taste—foreign to all his conceptions of a bed-cover. Well he was in Germany for sure, but where in Germany? Suddenly his hands were dragging down the quilt and pillows to pull back the mattress. Pulses pounding he peered close to the frame of the headboard—he found what he was certain would be there in precise square letters—Heinrich Mueller, Freiburg, Germany—God bless the German pride in handicraft! People didn't import this kind of bed far from the place of its making, so if he wasn't now in Freiburg he would lay great odds that he was close to it. Those mountains he admired formed a northern spur to the Swiss Alps and more than that, memory forced the door of his brain and he heard Freya's voice:

"Don't worry about me, Niel darling. I can live in Father's old house in the river valley, near Freiburg. I have friends nearby."

Who were the friends—Conrad?

Perhaps this man's wife? Now his happen soon, they couldn't keep head ached violently, his eyes felt him in this room forever.

He undressed and slipped into a troubled sleep—into a dream of Freya staggering with him through the snow, trailed by a dog, with a masked face for a head, held in leash by Conrad whose eyes shot blue flames ahead. Every now and then Conrad jerked the leash and the dog reared up and tumbled in confusion in the snow.

Churchill Presses Warning On Russia's Armed Might; Hails Attlee For StandLEADERS JOIN IN BLASTS AT 'COMMUNISM'

By WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Winston Churchill and Prime Minister Attlee captured Britain's headlines today with almost simultaneous verbal blasts against Russia in what appeared to be shaping up as a solid British front against communism.

Churchill told his constituents in suburban Loughton that he had "facts" and "evidence" to support his suggestion—made in the form of a question before the house of commons Wednesday—that the Soviet Union now has 200 divisions—more than 2,000,000 men—in a full war footing in Russian-occupied eastern Europe.

He lauded Attlee's speech before the trades union congress at Brighton earlier in the day in which the Prime Minister bluntly accused Soviet leaders of erecting a "wall of ignorance and suspicion" between the Russian people and the rest of the world.

Results Abroad

"The fact that the British government has decisively broken with the Communists and are fronted with them, although it does not immediately affect the course of affairs in this island," said Churchill, "Has an important and beneficial result abroad, because there are countries on the continent—like France—quivering under the Communist attack."

He said his Wednesday speech should be regarded as "a serious warning," and added:

"I did not ask the question (about Russian forces) without weighing very carefully the whole matter and without consulting others, my friends and colleagues, and laying before them the evidence on which I proceeded."

Government Silent

Government spokesmen remained resolutely silent with regard to Churchill's embarrassing inquiry, but some sections of the press were increasingly critical of the wartime Prime Minister's methods.

"What ought not to be done," said the Daily Mirror, "is to state (Britain's differences with Russia) in the form of insult and innuendo."

'POLL PRACTICE' IN WASHINGTON ON NOVEMBER 5

By ARTHUR EDSON

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Voteless District of Columbia residents are all steamed up over an election that's only make believe.

While the rest of the nation (excepting early bird Maine) votes for keeps November 5, Washingtonians will turn out for a snappy poll practice.

But it's no wonder they're excited.

U. S. Grant was puttering around the White House the last time the district had a chance to elect anyone. And even that election, in 1873, was only local.

Two Questions

Here are the two questions on this year's practice ballot:

1. Do you want the right to vote for officials of your own city government in the District of Columbia?

2. Do you want the right to vote for President of the United States and for members of Congress from the District?

What's the point?

Local civic leaders believe few district residents understand that Congress itself runs the small but populous district.

They think few realize that 800,000 district residents pay taxes, but can't pick their own dogcatcher.

Hope For Real Thing

They think that if the vote is large and decisive enough, it may call attention to their plight.

Then voters whose ballots count may help to convince an indifferent Congress that this taxation without representation has gone on long enough.

So 200 civic organizations whoop it up. Newspapers run front page stories daily. Election judges and clerks have been chosen. Voting booths in the schools will be open from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

Washingtonians hope it will be just a dress rehearsal for the real thing.

The shade of green in an apple tree's leaves will determine how red the apples will be.

Horses From Ten States At Harrisburg

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—The first of eight awards will be presented to a class winner today at the annual Pennsylvania National Horse Show, now being conducted at the spacious Farm Show arena.

Before the show closes tomorrow night seven additional $1,000 awards will be given to class winners.

Show horses from ten surrounding states are competing here for the cash awards and other trophies being presented by the horse show officials.

Last night Grandview's Black Magic, owned by the H. B. Massey stables of Pittsburgh carried off the principal honors in the ladies' fine harness horse class.

SOY BEAN PRICE LEAPS UPWARD

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—Soy beans, the "wonder bean" of the orient, today was returning wondrous prices to farmers harvesting a crop almost twice as large as those produced immediately prior to the war.

When price ceilings were removed from fats and oils last week they went off this "little honorable god," as the Chinese long ago named the soya bean. Since decontrol prices have spurted to record highs.

Beans are selling in the Chicago market at around $3.50 a bushel. This compares with a ceiling of $2.32½ in effect before decontrol.

Demand for beans is urgent and comes from many sources. Soybeans, when crushed, produce oil—and this oil is used in such everyday products as salad oil, cooking fats, margarine, soap, candy, paint, linoleum and varnishes. Practically all these products are in short supply.

Another result of the crushing process is soybean meal, which has a high protein content and is used to feed livestock. Soybean flour is used as a filling for sausages, as well as in making crackers, wafers and macaroni. Oil, meal and flour have numerous other uses.

Bids going out to the country from some of these buyers last night were as high at $3.45 a bushel, on track in Illinois and Indiana.

In addition to domestic demand,

CALLS FOR FULL EMPLOYMENT TO GET PROSPERITY

(By The Associated Press)

The future prosperity of America depends on the successful carrying out of the Full Employment Act. U. S. Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala.) declared last night in a campaign speech at Greensburg.

"The other corners of the structure," he said at a Democratic political rally, are:

"a minimum wage adequate to prevent hardship and suffering, an expanded program of social security, and an agricultural program which provides adequate farm-price supports opportunity for broader peace-time markets at home and abroad, extended crop insurance, and scientific research and conservation."

Guffey Denial

He contrasted employment, production and farm returns today with those of 1929, asserting that the nation today is in better condition than during the peak year of prosperity following the last year.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, at Harrisburg, issued an emphatic denial last night to charges made by Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor that he had used his personal influence in 1937, prior to the European war, to "keep Mexican oil flowing into Nazi Germany."

Guffey said "I had nothing to do with selling oil to Germany," adding later that he had nothing to do with the late William R. David obtained expropriated Mexican oil for shipment to Germany.

"I haven't seen the Rogge report," said Guffey of a report made by O. John Rogge, a special assistant to the U. S. Attorney General, which was used largely by Ray Strigle, Pittsburgh newspaperman, as the background for Taylor's charges.

Highest Compliment

"But I am strongly in favor of the immediate release of the full text of Rogge's report," declared

Guffey. "It couldn't be anything else but a vindication of my position."

Guffey earlier had called upon top

Republican candidates to repudiate a Philadelphia GOP meeting that to the late President Roosevelt.

"the golden voice is stilled" and

Guffey said that Joseph N. Pew, "with the Pied Piper" gone the rest of a Philadelphia oil man, had said at the "rats" should be exterminated.

A MESSAGE OF INTEREST to all who await deliveries of new Chevrolets

We want you to know that everything possible is being done to speed deliveries to you; but production still lags far behind schedule — even though Chevrolet has built more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer from January through September 1946

WE REALIZE how eagerly you are awaiting delivery of the new Chevrolet you have ordered from us, and we want to pass on to you the latest information received from the Chevrolet Motor Division, even though that information isn't too encouraging at this time.

It is true that Chevrolet leads all other manufacturers in total production of passenger cars and trucks from January through September 1946, despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of this year. It is also true that Chevrolet has continued to maintain its lead in total production during the third quarter of 1946. And yet production is still running far below desired levels, with the result that Chevrolet's output of cars and trucks through September 1946 was only 38.7% of the number produced during the corresponding period of 1941.

This means it may take many months for the Chevrolet Motor Division to reach peak production of new Chevrolets—even longer to fill the unprecedented demand for this product of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—and, for the present at least, "there just aren't enough Chevrolets to go around," much as we wish there were.

However, we want you to know that new Chevrolets are leaving the plants in the largest numbers possible today. The Chevrolet Motor Division tells us it is doing everything it can, in the face of continued suppliers' strikes, material shortages and manpower problems, to step up shipments to us and to all dealers, in accordance with a predetermined distribution plan assuring each dealer of his fair allotment, based on 1941 passenger car sales. And we, in turn, are doing our best to deliver new Chevrolets to our customers as rapidly as they are received and in the fairest possible way. We are too appreciative of your loyalty and goodwill—to do anything less than continue to serve you to the very best of our ability.

KEEP YOUR PRESENT CAR RUNNING

Meanwhile, the most important car of all to you is the car you are driving now. May we suggest that you keep it in top running condition until you secure delivery of your new Chevrolet, by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals. Remember—cold weather is hardest on old cars. Please see us for a complete check-up today. . . . And, again, thank you!

ISSUES WARNING AGAINST PRANKS

Chief of Police Leon H. Gage has issued a stern warning about the defacing and destruction of property which has been going on in Littlestown under the mistaken name of Halloween "fun." No one wishes to deny the boys and girls their legitimate fun, but irresponsible vandalism must be stopped, he stated.

Two examples of the unnecessary destruction happened on the grounds of the public grade school building. Two large potted plants were upset off their large pedestals, and the latter broken into several pieces. Here also some boy or boys broke the rope and pulley on the flagpole while trying to hoist a bicycle which did not belong to the guilty person or persons. As a result, the American flag could not be raised there the past few days. Many windows have been soaped, but in some instances profane and vulgar language has been written on the windows.

If these actions are not discontinued, stern action will be taken against offenders, the Chief stated, and from the layman's, respectively.

The evening service will be in charge of laymen of the conference. Officers of the conference are: President, the Rev. Gerald G. Neely; Vice-President, the Rev. Paul Levi York; secretary, the Rev. Paul Levi Fouk, Hanover, and treasurer, the Rev. Carroll S. Klug, Chambersburg. Meals will be served in the parish hall by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's church.

The church is observing its centennial anniversary beginning Sunday and copies of the church history will be released to the public for the first time at morning services. A nominal charge is made for the booklet.

The first installment of the history of the Reformed congregation of the church will be published in next Friday's edition of The Gettysburg Times and subsequent installments will follow each Friday thereafter until the entire history has been published.

Each installment will be accompanied by illustrations. The history follows:

A SHORT HISTORY OF ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CONGREGATION

1846 - 1946

by

REV. J. M. MYERS, PH.D., S.T.D.

St. Luke's Union church, the only remaining union church in the county, is located in Mt. Pleasant township, Adams county, Pennsylvania, on the macadam road leading from Bonneaville to Littlestown, about a mile from the latter place.

A. Origins

The origin of St. Luke's Lutheran congregation is obscure. There is virtually no recorded information on organization or building before 1850. Tradition has it that the congregation was organized sometime in the fall of 1846 by the Rev. Jacob Albert who was then pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Hanover, Pa. It is altogether likely that Biehl withdrew from the committee and Levi U. Fouk was appointed to serve in his place. This committee held almost weekly meetings for several months and the transactions of business are fully recorded. The corner-stone of the building was laid on May 5, 1889, and was the same one used in the old building. Rev. Becker preached the sermon in the morning and Dr. Lindaman preached in the evening. The construction of the edifice progressed rapidly and the completed church was dedicated on November 3, 1889. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Dr. E. J. Wolf of the Gettysburg Seminary. The Rev. J. O. Lindaman spoke in German and preached the sermon at the evening services. The pastors, Revs. Becker and Lindaman, and Rev. Parr participated in the ceremonies. The latter presented a pupil Bible and Rev. and Mrs. Becker presented a clock. (See "Minutes of the West Pennsylvania Synod, 1860," p. 13). Rev. Becker inaugurated a splendid record system written in a beautiful hand. There were 147 confirmed members at this time.

Change of Services

From 1893 to 1896 the Rev. W. C. Wire was pastor at St. Luke's. For some reason a change of services at St. Luke's was approved by the Synod ("Minutes, 1895," p. 40) to take effect in March, 1896, but the congregation made no arrangements for services and sent a committee to Synod in October of that year requesting permission to employ a supply pastor ("Minutes, 1896," p. 35). The request was granted and the Rev. H. E. Clark of the Seminary supplied the congregation until October 1, 1897. Rev. Wire was the only pastor of the congregation to die during his term of service.

The Rev. L. A. Mann, D.D., was pastor from 1897 until April 1, 1903. During his five and one-half years of service twenty-six members were added to the church roll and the congregation appears to have been in a flourishing condition.

Dr. Mann's successor was the Rev. C. P. Bastian, D.D.—1903-1907. Forty-six members were added during his pastorate, many of whom are still very active in the work of the church. The Rev. Carl Mumford, Sr., followed Dr. Bastian—1907-1910. His ministry was a very happy and prosperous one.

Rev. Mumford was succeeded by the Rev. I. M. Lau who served from 1911 to 1921. During Rev. Lau's pastorate individual communion cups were provided, the grove surrounding the cemetery purchased, a new fence placed around the cemetery, electric lights installed, the duplex envelope system introduced, the interior of the church remodeled and an annex consisting of pulpit and altar recess with two side rooms $1.50; 50 feet of pine board for $1.00; added, and the Ladies' Aid and Missionary societies organized. A dedicatory service was held July 12-17, 1921, in charge of the Revs. I. M. Lau and R. S. Weiler (Reformed). The following program was carried through: Tuesday evening July 12, "The Beauty of Holiness" by Prof. A. R. Wentz; Wednesday evening, July 13, "Indifference" by the Rev. A. H. Smith; Thursday evening, July 14, "The Mission of the Beautiful" by J. B. Baker, D.D.; Friday evening, "Building for God" by M. J. Roth, D.D.; Saturday evening, July 15, Father and Son banquet followed by Laymen's Night when addresses were delivered by the Rev. A. M. Hollinger, the Rev. Milton Whitener, Messrs. P. O. Elsesser and A. R. Brodbeck; Sunday morning July 17, "The Abiding Church" by J. A. Singmaster, D.D.; afternoon, July 17, "Chosen of God" by the Rev. Paul Pontius, "Beautifying the Temple" by the Rev. Paul Gladfelter; Sunday evening, July 17, "Witnessing for Christ" by John C. Bowman, D.D.

Steady Progress

The Rev. G. H. Eveler took charge on March 1, 1922. He resigned on January 15, 1925. In March of the same year the Rev. J. I. Hummer assumed charge of St. Luke's and continued to serve until 1929. Both of these pastorate marked a period of steady progress.

The present pastor, the Rev. J. M. Myers, Ph.D., S.T.D., began his work on June 1, 1930. During his pastorate the church edifice was twice painted, the interior redecorated, altar paraments provided, a new furnace installed, and a new social hall constructed. The old St. John's charge having been divided (see "Minutes of the West Pennsylvania Synod, 1930," pp. 40-43) and a new charge consisting of Grace and St. Luke's churches having been formed, it was necessary to provide a new parsonage. A commodious house for this purpose was built at Gettysburg in 1933. Ninety-two members have been added to the church roll thus far and the present confirmed membership stands at 169. The Sunday school, Ladies Aid and Missionary societies are in excellent condition.

Services marking the fiftieth anniversary of the present building were held on Sunday, October 15, 1939. The morning service was in charge of the Lutheran pastor and the sermon was preached by the Rev. H. C. Alleman, D.D., LL.D. The evening service was in charge of the Reformed pastor and the sermon was delivered by the Rev. H. S. Fox.

D. Sons and Daughters of St. Luke
The congregation has given two of its sons to the ministry—the Rev. Paul Levi Fouk, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Hanover, and the Rev. Richard S. Shanebrook, pastor of the Muhlenberg charge, Spring Grove. Mrs. W. C. Day, wife of the pastor of Grace Lutheran church, Red Lion, is a daughter of this congregation. Mr. Claude O.
